

Victorio is a perfect example of a considered breeding decision which had the desired result. His father's gentle but sensitive nature, big canter and extreme rideability coupled to his mother's fluid, elastic paces has produced an athletic, multi-talented dressage prospect gifted with that special combination of attributes needed to succeed in the advanced dressage levels. If this is what you've been looking for but want the journey to be a pleasure all the way, this one's a no-brainer.
